

Health Science 1 Neely

- ▶ Kendall Cox is the Star Student for the Health Science 1 program.
- ▶ Kendall Cox is being honored because she demonstrates the skills and attributes that employers value.
- ▶ Kendall has excellent social skills and interpersonal skills. She has great communication skills (verbal and nonverbal) and she interacts with others very well. Kendall Cox has great listening skills and respect for others. Based on Kendall's academic achievement, there is no doubt that she is motivated. A leader is someone that is assertive but nonaggressive, shows dedication, has integrity, and creative. Kendall has all characteristics of a great leader and a desire to achieve. Her inner core values are expressed by her behavior and her actions. I am impressed by Kendall's quantitative skills such as: solving complex problems using critical thinking, ability to comprehend, analyze, and apply concepts effectively. She has the capability of tackling complex concepts in an organized manner. She has the willingness and desire to go the extra mile. Two of her many strengths that I admire the most are her promptness to class and her wit.

CLINICAL STUDIES George

McKenzie Hale is the star student for December 2019 Clinical Studies. When she started this class she was unsure as to whether she wanted to work with care for people or care for animals. She has taken Health Science 1, 2 and 3 as well as Sports Medicine. Her intent was to experience hands on care for people this semester and for animals in the Vet class next semester. However she did her shadowing at a Veterinary office so she managed both experiences already this semester. One of the three Vets that she shadowed called her a “sweet, smart, engaging young lady”. McKenzie has put her all into both experiences. Her work ethic, self-management and attitude has been exemplary. McKenzie showed initiative and caring at clinicals with the residents as well as in class. She meets deadlines and cares about the details. She wants to succeed and shows that with her efforts. Congratulations McKenzie! Keep it up, employers will be looking for someone with your workplace soft skills!
